

Leave Policy

Guidance for annual leave, personal/carer's leave, compassionate leave and other approved absences.

Internal Company Document | Version 1.0 | Effective: 1 September 2026

1. General Principles

- Employees should request planned leave as early as practical so teams can manage workload and coverage.
- Leave approval is subject to applicable employment conditions, operational requirements and relevant Australian workplace law.
- The HR system is the source of record for approved leave balances and requests.

2. Annual Leave

- Full-time and part-time employees accrue annual leave according to their applicable employment conditions.
- Employees should submit planned annual leave through the HR system before making non-refundable travel arrangements.
- Managers consider team coverage, business needs and the employee's accrued balance when reviewing requests.

3. Personal and Carer's Leave

- Personal/carer's leave may be used when an employee is unfit for work because of illness or injury, or when the employee needs to provide care or support to an eligible family or household member.
- Employees should notify their manager as soon as reasonably practicable and provide evidence when required.

4. Compassionate Leave

- Compassionate leave may apply when an employee experiences a qualifying family or household event, subject to applicable workplace law and employment conditions.
- Employees should contact People & Culture if they need help understanding their entitlement.

5. Unpaid Leave

- Unpaid leave may be available in certain circumstances and generally requires manager and/or People & Culture approval.
- Long periods of unpaid leave may affect payroll, benefits or other employment arrangements.

6. Public Holidays

- Public holiday arrangements depend on the employee's location, work pattern and applicable employment conditions.
- Employees who are required to work on a public holiday should follow the relevant manager-approved roster and payroll process.

7. Leave Request Process

- 1. Submit the request in the HR system.
- 2. Manager reviews the request against team coverage and applicable rules.
- 3. Employee receives an approval or rejection notification.
- 4. Approved leave is recorded in the HR system.

8. Questions

- For questions about balances, eligibility, evidence requirements or unusual circumstances, contact People & Culture.
